

Editorial

The Gondwana quake

M. Santosh 105Guest Editorial

The great Indian Ocean tsunami disaster

Jonathan C. Aitchison 107Regular Papers

Were the Deccan flood basalts derived in part from ancient oceanic crust within the Indian continental lithosphere?

Hetu C. Sheth 109

Geochronological constraints on evolution of Singhbhum Mobile Belt and associated basic volcanics of eastern Indian shield

Saumitra Misra and P. Thomas Johnson 129

Geochemistry and crustal evolution of volcano-sedimentary successions and orthogneisses in the São Gabriel block, southernmost Brazil – relics of Neoproterozoic magmatic arcs

K. Saalman, M.V.D. Remus and L.A. Hartmann 143

Tectonic control of the Triassic Santa Maria supersequence of the Paraná Basin, southernmost Brazil, and its correlation to the Waterberg Basin, Namibia

Henrique Zerkass, Farid Chemale Jr. and Ernesto Lavina 163

Paleoproterozoic crustal evolution of the São Luís Craton, Brazil: evidence from zircon geochronology and Sm-Nd isotopes

Evandro L. Klein, Candido A.V. Moura and Bruno L.S. Pinheiro 177

Facies and architecture of a carboniferous grounding-line system from the Guandacol Formation, Paganzo Basin, northwestern Argentina

S.A. Marensi, A. Tripaldi, C.O. Limarino and A.T. Caselli 187

Gold mineralization in Kottathara prospect, Attappadi Valley, Kerala, India: a preliminary appraisal

R.V.G. Nair, M.M. Nair and A.K. Maji 203

Morphology and chemistry of placer gold from Attappadi Valley, southern India

M. Nakagawa, M. Santosh, C.G. Nambiar and C. Matsubara 213

Mineralogical characterization of graphite deposits from Thodupuzha-Kanjirappally Belt, Madurai Granulite Block, southern India

K.R. Baiju, M. Satish-Kumar, H. Kagi, C.G. Nambiar and M. Ravisankar 223

Storm event beds in a Paleoproterozoic rift basin, Aravalli Supergroup, Rajasthan, India

H.N. Bhattacharya and Biplab Bhattacharya 231GONDWANA NEWSLETTER NO. 24*Editorial

Gondwana Research expresses deep sympathy to all those who suffered during the December 26, 2004 Indonesian earthquake and its aftermath

Joseph G. Meert 245Special Correspondence

Destructive earthquake and disastrous tsunami in the Indian Ocean, what next?

T. Harinarayana and Naoshi Hirata 246Correspondence

Feldspar alteration and diagenetic characteristics of the Parsora Sandstones, Son Basin, India

Babar Ali Shah and D.N. Bandyopadhyay 258

Study of structural disorder in natural tourmalines by infrared spectroscopy

P.S.R. Prasad and D. Srinivasa Sarma 265

Mapping of b-value beneath the Shillong Plateau

P.K. Khan 271

Tectonic significance of fissure veins associated with pseudotachylites of the Kui–Chitraseni Shear Zone, Aravalli Mountain, NW India

Sunayana Sarkar and T.K. Biswal 277Discussion

Crustal source for a syenite complex in the high-grade Eastern Ghats Belt, India: Sm-Nd isotopic evidence – comment

Hetu C. Sheth 282

Crustal source for a syenite complex in the high-grade Eastern Ghats Belt, India: Sm-Nd isotopic evidence – reply

S. Bhattacharya 285Obituary

Prof. Avula Sarangapani Janardhan

C. Srikantappa 287

Prof. Henri Ali Basira Kampunzu

Jacques L.H. Cailteux, François R.T. Lubala and Masaru Yoshida 289Conference Report2nd International Workshop on Water Dynamics*Sujoy Ghosh, Asami Sano, Akira Shimojuku, Takaaki Kawazoe and Konstantin Litasov* 291

International Symposium and Field Workshop on Gondwana Evolution and Dispersal, Kochi University, Japan, November 13–15, 2004

Joachim Jacobs 293Book Review

Geophysical exploration for coal, the Indian scenario

J.R. Kayal 295

Progress of coal petrology in India

Atul Kumar Varma 296

Geoscientific writing (a guide to language and composition style)

B. Mahabaleswar 298